

For the Fall 2018 season, Nautica continues its coastal journey. This trip is all about the outdoors and adventures – from exploring mountains and hidden lakes to traveling through streets of beautiful new cities. Nautica returns to its classic American sportswear pieces while putting an emphasis on weatherproof clothing to prepare for temperatures to drop and summer months fading. This collection is meant to inspire an ambitious and active lifestyle, all the while providing innovation for everyday performance.

Key offerings this season:

- The Nautica Men's Collection revisits its strong heritage pieces with mixed media sweaters in a range of colors, focusing mainly on Earth tones, and denim-inspired blues and greens
- Fall 2018 introduces NavTech, a product line that is engineered to provide form, function and comfort.
- Check shirts with plaids in oxford fabric and chinos with twill stretch and slant pockets.
- Making its debut this season is Shacket – combination of shirt and jacket.
- Heat retention sweaters, performance polos and bomber jackets are just a few of the items that make this collection unique and purposeful.

Bold primary colors make a strong statement this season, appearing together on classic polos and sweaters that are all perfect for layering. Vibrant key pieces also appear in shades like Orange Poppy and Bright Cobalt amongst the fleece jackets and sweatshirts. With an emphasis on style and warmth, the Men's Fall 2018 Collection is perfect for day to night looks.
