

THE CHINO GUIDE

With all the variety on offer, it can be very easy to get your chino look wrong and if you have grown comfy to your jeans, you may just lose your way in the galaxy of bottoms on offer. U.S. Polo Assn.'s designer, Rajesh K, brings to you the guide to choosing the perfect chinos and wearing them with style

CHOOSE A MODISH COLOR

The color of your chinos should correspond to two things – the color of the top you are wearing and the occasion you are wearing the chinos for. Black, beige, olive green and navy blue are the essentials for chinos

---

GET THE RIGHT FIT

Chinos should never be too long. Hem chinos for a sophisticated, sleeker aesthetic that will look sharp rather than sloppy

---

COMPLETE THE LOOK

Chinos can make a casual business get-up if you pair them with a cotton dress shirt, a cotton tie, and a cotton blazer with loafers or leather boots. Or get even more casual – surely, you've seen the hipsters with their rolled-up pants and crazy colored sneakers or boots

OCCASION

Whether you choose to wear a simple T-shirt and sneakers or a button-down and Oxfords, chinos can always look great. It's thanks to this ability to pair with both casual and formal styles that chinos are ideal for smart casual, semi-formal, and cocktail occasions
